THE STATE OF WISCONSIN.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

BY THE GOVERNOR.

In harmony with the praiseworthy custom of expressing gratitude for the blessings vouchsafed during the year past, and in conformity with the proclamation of the president of the United States, I, Jeremiah M. Rusk, governor of the state of Wisconsin, do hereby designate and appoint Thursday, the 22nd day of November, instant, as a day of general thanksgiving. And I do recommend that the people of the state lay aside their usual avocations on that day, and in their accustomed manner give thanks to an All-Wise Providence for the numerous bounties enjoyed during the year, and ask the continuance of prosperity to the state and happiness in the homes of all the people.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the state of Wisconsin to be affixed. Done at the city of Madison, this seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

By the Governor: J. M. RUSK.

ERNST G. TIMME, Secretary of State.

Thickens health has greatly improved since he heard from Massachusetts.

When a Chicago merchant fails with liabilities placed at $68,000, and assets at $1,000, it is quite evident that he intends to build a new house and live in easy circumstances.

A settlement of the year's business shows that Barum, Hutchinson & Bailey made $1,000,000 out of the show this season, and this amount was divided among the three.

A party that elected its candidate for governor in 1882 by 194,000 plurality, and the next year in the same state lost the head of its ticket by 20,000 majority against him, can not be said to have gained a very substantial vote. But probably the democrats call it a victory because they were not barred out of eight his year.

The report comes from Boston that a man in Lowell, mortgaged his house to raise $17,000 with which to bet on the election of Ben Butler. He lost all and is now poor—a poor fool. One man in Boston and several in Essex county, lost their homes by betting on Butler. But a condottor on the Fitchburg railway was a little more sensible, and bet against Butler and won $8,000.

The people of Dakota don't seem to care whether the new constitution was voted up or down. The friends of the constitution anticipated a heavy vote for it but were disappointed. In some of the most thickly settled counties the vote was almost solidly against the adoption of the constitution. The total vote in the territory will hardly exceed 20,000, which was not half of the vote expected. This will encourage the democrats in congress to vote against the admission of the territory, and should they do this, the republicans will lose three electoral votes for the next presidential candidate.

It will be a disgrace to this country and an insult to the patriotism of France if our people do not raise the $250,000 necessary to pay for the pedestal on which to place Bartholdi's famous statue, "Liberty Enlightening the World." The working people of France, by popular subscription, raised $250,000 with which to purchase the statue, and presented it to the United States, and all the people of this country have to do is to secure a like sum for the pedestal. The subscriptions have been going on for three years, and only $90,000 have been secured. There should be no delay, for common decency sake, in raising the entire amount.

Joe Howard, of New York, the well-known correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, has written an article of unusual interest on "ruined old men" who loaf about the hotels and lunch counters of that great city. While the story is written in a vein of humor, there is a great deal of sadness between the lines, and is a powerful warning and a valuable lesson to young men. The crowd of loafers and beggars that Mr. Howard writes about in such an interesting way, is composed of bankrupted merchants, broken down actors, and unfortunate union generals. There are men in this queer crowd of hungry and impecunious fellows, who once were among the successful merchants of the city, and who in the late war, commanded divisions of the federal army. They have seen days of cheering hope and flattering prosperity, but misfortune and carelessness have dragged them down to bitter poverty, and being too old to work, they gather about the leading hotels and the popular lunch counters, meeting old friends, hoping for an invitation to take a drink or a meal, and anxiously awaiting for an opportunity to borrow all the way from 25 cents to $25 from those who once knew them in better days. The sad story is a warning to young men and to middle-aged men to prepare for the days when the years make a man old and feeble, and when the world cares little for him.

The public is as much in doubt as to the cause of the accident at the capitol as ever, and doubtless it will require an investigation to place the responsibility of such a calamity. There was a weakness in some part of the structure that was overlooked. Every stone put upon another should have been put there with a certainty that it would firmly endure through all the changes of the seasons for generations. A structure of that kind should be as permanently fixed as the bill upon which it is built. The state is able to secure the erection of just such a building, and it would be criminal to slight the work in order to save a few thousand dollars. But, however, the capitol commissioners, the architect, and the contractors, seem to pride themselves on the substantial character of the work being done on the capitol extension. Special pains were taken to make the foundation secure beyond all question, and the work on the walls was regarded as especially excellent. But in the face of all this, the building went down. It seems to be one of these rare occurrences that baffles the mind. There did not appear to exist any cause for the calamity. The contractors and the architect were doing their best to erect a building that would be a credit to themselves and an honor to the state, and can offer no explanation as to the cause for the accident. An investigation will be had at the earliest possible moment, and competent and unbiased architects will be called upon to give the plans and specifications and the building, a thorough examination, and in the mean time the public should be just enough to suspend judgment.

CAUGHT IN THE WRECK.

High Wind Crushes a Buffalo Building with Serious Loss of Life.

Four Men Killed and Several Wounded—Terrible Accident in a Work-Shop—Carried to Death on a Belt.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 10.—During a high wind here, the roof of Jacobs Dicks barrel factory and store house, on Williams street, fell in with a crash, carrying with it the floor and ceiling. There were twenty men in the building at the time, and for a few moments there was a panic and confusion, mingled with the screams and groans of the injured. The whole upper portion of the structure, which was four stories high and built of wood, yielded to the heavy gale, and was reduced to a wreck. Two men were killed, with at least one more fatally hurt. Four others were rescued alive, but badly hurt. The others have not yet been thoroughly searched.

A force of firemen and police officers were summoned, and at once began the task of extricating the bodies from beneath the lumber. The dead are as follows: Jacob Schenckel, the foreman, aged 30 years; his back was broken and he died about an hour after the accident. Wm. Eckner, a laborer, left leg broken above the knee; when he was found he was still breathing, but died shortly after being removed. John Otto, a carpenter, and Johann Grodel, a laborer, were found dead in the ruins. The injured are Charles E. Philor, jaw broken and otherwise wounded; John Katus, cut about the face; Andrew Huss, injured about the head, and A. Pollock had one of his legs broken and was internally injured. Just before the accident half the force had been ordered to another building to perform some other work, and escaped from the wreck.

CAUGHT IN IT.

WILMINGTON, Nov. 10.—As James McBride, a banner in the mercantile factory of J. Park Postley, was putting a bolt on a reel, he was caught, carried fifteen feet, and whirled over a shaft only six inches from the ceiling. He then fell to the floor. When picked up, he was found that his left arm was torn off close to the shoulder, the end of the bone sticking out, and the muscles of his left chest were torn loose. His shoes were torn off, his body terribly bruised and his wounds may result fatally.

John Niskey's Fate.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—A man went into an unused but blast over at the Manchester Steel company's works, this city, and went to sleep. Next morning he was found in the oven, dead, having been smothered by gas that filled the place. It is supposed he was intoxicated and did not notice the gas when he entered the oven. Papers found in his pockets show his name to be John Niskey, formerly of Philadelphia.

An Old Woman Burned to Death.

BANGOR, Conn., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Eliza Bowen, aged 88, of Station Island, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Conkile, at 345 Fairfield avenue, for the last few days, was burned to death. The upper portion of her body was burned to a crisp. She was in the habit of smoking, and it is supposed her clothing took fire while she was lighting her pipe. A broken pipe lay by her side.

Terrible Fall.

NEWCASTLE, Nov. 10.—A scaffold at Reib Bros' furnace, seventy-eight feet in height, on which William Troy and Andrew McBride, Jones Egan and Martin Bullister were working, gave away, and all the men but the last were hurled to the ground. Egan was instantly killed, and Troy and McBride badly hurt. Bullister fell twelve feet and caught hold of a beam and thus saved himself.

Runs in the Family.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—Reuben Freshwater, the father of George Freshwater, who was shot dead at Delaware, Thursday, was struck by lightning Friday at Ostrander, and instantly killed.

The War on the Lotteries.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 10.—The district commissioners have addressed a letter to the postmaster general, calling his attention to the difficulty of preventing the sale of lottery tickets here, because of the laxity of the law, and asking that he urge upon congress the enactment of a law that will accomplish the object sought. They also say that the publication by newspapers of lottery advertisements tends to tempt the people into buying lottery tickets, and suggests that such papers be excluded from the mails. They state that department clerks, as a class, are large buyers, and hope that some department regulation may prevent them from indulging in the pernicious practice.

An Insane Mother.

ALLEGHANY, Pa., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Kroll, living in a boat house on the river front, became violently insane, and made an attack on her three children with a hatchet and knife, but fortunately was prevented by police officers from doing serious harm. Her husband's death a short time ago unsettled her mind. The authorities have the whole family in charge.

An Incredibly Scoundrel.

NORWALK, Conn., Nov. 10.—James W. Hyatt, Democrat, is elected state senator in this district, after a bitter fight, by a majority of 10. While making a speech, replying to congratulations, his house was set on fire, and narrowly escaped destruction. The incendiary was not discovered.

THOSE PADDED "CABLES."

The Manner in Which Thirty Words are "Expanded" Into Two Columns.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The Central News association of London is the correspondent for a so-called news association here. In stating his view of "fair expansion" of dispatches, the manager of the Central News said: "We send points of intelligence in thirty words of which American papers make two columns." The Herald correspondent adds: "The spectators received this with loud laughter, and enjoyed the assurance of the juvenile sub-editor who said he filled up all foreign dispatches from reference to books, documents, telegrams, and personal knowledge." P. X. Schoonmaker, who makes up some "cables" from dispatches sent here by the Central News, was asked if he was the "padder" of cables. He answered that the cables he received were not padded to the extent testified to by Mr. Saunders in London, but were filled out to some extent. The whole business attracts the attention here of reputable and responsible makers of newspapers.

RECEPTION TO GEN. SHERMAN.

New York Veterans Meet Their Old Commander at the Banquet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—About 250 veterans from several posts tendered Gen. Sherman a reception at the Germania assembly rooms. Gen. Sherman introduced the distinguished soldier in a few appropriate remarks. Gen. Sherman on rising to respond was received with cheer after cheer. He said: "Gentlemen, I have responded to your call but it is always an unpleasant thing to celebrate one's own funeral. There were days when I used to order you about pretty roughly, and I suppose you are now simply returning the compliment. I was in Louisiana when the talk of war first came going on around me, that they meant to fight. I said, gentlemen, if you mean fight I want to get on the other side, and I got there. In concluding his remarks the general said: "I shall be always glad to meet the survivors of the war at any time and at any place. There was a time when I could command you, but I will reverse the order; you may now command me." After a general handshaking the general left for his hotel.

Terrible Tag Explosion.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The following dispatch was received at police headquarters: "Wards Island, N. Y., Nov. 10.—About 11 o'clock, a. m., a terrible explosion occurred on board a tug boat which was steaming up Harlem river opposite Ward's Island ferry. One Hundred and Ten feet. The boat was blown to atoms, splinters and planks flying high into the air and with the crew sank instantly. The scene in the water was a terrible one. The police boat sent to rescue the survivors. The police boat arrived shortly afterwards and succeeded in rescuing one of the crew, who stated that there were four others aboard, including the captain and engineer. Search was made for them but nothing was seen. It is supposed that they were killed instantly. The deck hand picked up is badly injured and was sent to the hospital."

Adeline Patti's Reappearance.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The reappearance of Miss Adeline Patti at the Metropolitan Opera House, was a full house. The drama was received with all the old-time enthusiasm which has always been accorded her. The pleasure of hearing Miss Patti again was increased by the fact that it was in an unacknowledged work that she appeared. "La Gazza Ladra" was once one of the most popular of Rossini's operas. It was sung in the old opera house, and was certainly a constant pleasure to listen while she is on the stage. She certainly, by her brightness, her charming vocalization, and by the firmness with which she led all the ensemble music, gave interest to every scene.

Gave It to the Democrat.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 10.—The executive council has given the senatorship in the Redhook district to Hendrie, Democrat, over Heinsholmer. Arguments were heard in behalf of Mr. Hendrie by Mr. Kelley, and for Heinsholmer by United States Attorney Rannells. The council decided that the return from one precinct was irregular and could not be counted. Judge Cook for congress, but which only gave his surname, were also counted. In the returns from the Davenport and Muscatine district Nathaniel French received every vote cast for judge to succeed Richman.

The Brown Son-in-Law.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Babu Protah Chunder Mozumdar, the distinguished Hindoo reformer, who has been in the United States for six weeks, has arrived in Chicago. He is the guest of the Rev. David N. Utter, pastor of the Unitarian church of the Messiah. He will lecture at the church on Sunday, and in his religious faith he is a Christian. In his religious faith he is a Christian. He travels on his own expense, for his own instruction and pleasure.

Suicide Johnson's Affairs.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Counselor Ward Hunt and Mr. D. N. Crouse have concluded an examination of the books and papers of the late Arthur B. Johnson and found that everything is in excellent order. The rumors that Johnson was financially embarrassed are false.

Not a Chinese Possession.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—In an interview M. Ferry asserts that Tonquin is not a Chinese possession. He does not believe that China would fight, but in any event France would not blockade treaty ports. England and France could not afford to quarrel.

Butler Will Celebrate.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 10.—Gov. Butler has decided to accept the invitation to attend the celebration of the evacuation of the city of New York by the British. Probably several military companies of Massachusetts will accompany him.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The business failures during the last seven days in the United States and Canada, reported by R. G. Dan & Co.'s mercantile agency, numbered 211, against 215 the previous week.

The Quail Fiasco.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 10.—Joseph Weber, who made a bet to eat a brace of quail every day, for twenty days, on a wager of $1000 completed his task in the presence of a large crowd of people.

A Youthful Assassin.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 10.—In Christian county, a young boy named Lee, aged 15 years, shot and killed Edgewood Swearingen, a child of 7. The young assassin fled, but was captured.

BUZZARD AND HIS BAND.

He Descends from the Hills and Carries Off Much Booty.

READING, Pa., Nov. 10.—"Abe" Buzzard and his notorious band of thieves have invaded another battle with the citizens by perpetrating another series of robberies. The thieves, as has been their custom, divided in three bands and operated in as many sections. The following places were robbed of several thousand dollars worth of silverware, merchandise and wearing apparel: James Miller's cigar factory and saleroom at Ruthsville, George Steinmetz's store near Clay, Isaac Reintz's shop near Ruthsville, A. M. Garber's residence near Landisville, Abraham Hedges' residence, and a Roman Catholic church near Elizabethtown. A memorial window in the church was smashed, and the altar was robbed of its gold and silver ornaments. A rain storm prevailed in the Ephrata hills, and the search for the robbers was interrupted, but hundreds of citizens are assembled ready for another battle. Two dozen false lays have been found on the hills. Clifford, the captured outlaw, was shot in the groin. He says the plunder is hidden all over the hills. The excitement is unabated, and if the robberies continue the governor will be asked for military assistance.

THE TRADE DOLLAR.

Cincinnati Merchants Memorialize Congress to Redeem It.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10.—The board of trade and transportation, pursuant to action taken by the board or directors on the 7th inst., have issued the following memorial to congress, to which the signatures of our citizens is invited:

MEMORIAL.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives and Senate of the United States in Congress assembled:

We, the undersigned, members of the Cincinnati board of trade and transportation, as well as others engaged in mercantile, manufacturing and other business pursuits, respectfully represent to your honorable body that the circulation of the trade dollar as an element of our currency has become a nuisance to the business community, and a constant source of irritation and loss to the public generally. Your petitioners therefore pray that congress take immediate steps to provide for the redemption of this obnoxious coin by the government, and its speedy withdrawal from circulation.

Over one thousand of these memorials are being circulated, and will be found on the desks of our hotels, banks, express companies, railroad ticket offices, factories, etc.

A Crooked State Senator Elected.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 10.—Pamphlets and letters and the cry of an indictment were forwarded here by S. F. Gilson, chairman of the Erie, Pa., Democratic committee, charging A. D. Fasset, senator elect from this district, with theft of nearly $100 worth of clothing. Democrats of this vicinity, foremost among them O. P. Wharton, intend sending all the facts in the case to congress, and also to the Ohio state legislature, and a copy of the indictment to Lieut. Gov. Warwick, president of the senate, and propose to have the matter fully investigated, as was done in the O'Connor case in 1878. Fasset was indicted in the Erie county court of quarter sessions in 1883 for stealing clothing from a clothes cleaning establishment. The indictment is untried, as Fasset jumped his bail and ran away, leaving his bondsman to suffer.

Payne Claims that Senatorship.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 10.—The persons interesting themselves in the candidacy of Hon. H. H. Payne, for the United States senatorship, and those who are a small army of them throughout the state, have made careful and exhaustive canvass of the incoming legislature, and from advice received from all sections of the state the claim is confidently made here that he will have a majority of ten on the first ballot. The adherents of the Payne interest have all along believed that they would certainly be chosen the next Ohio United States senator, but it is only now that they have claimed a decision of the question on the first ballot and by a decisive majority.

New Call Raised.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 10.—Notice has been given of an application that will be made in the court of common pleas, December 1, for a charter for a corporation, to be known as the Pittsburgh public call board, the object of which is the encouragement and protection of the trade and business of buying and selling grain, provisions, oil, produce, etc., in the city of Pittsburgh. As the name indicates, the institution is open to every one. The 101 voters of Pittsburgh, is president of the board, and Messrs. Geo. M. Irwin and Wm. Hughes, both of Chicago, are among the incorporators.

Judgment Against the Elevated Road.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—In the suit of John H. Glover against the elevated railway companies to restrain the operation of the roads in front of the plaintiff's premises, at the corner of Greenwich and Reister streets, Judge Ingraham gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff with costs. The judge, however, declined to issue an injunction until after the defendants should have had time to purchase the plaintiff's property.

Reminiscence of the Telegraph Strike.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10.—Cohen & Co., printers, brought suit before Squire Schiwb against S. L. Welp, L. D. Hamilton and Samuel W. Higdon, the committee who made arrangements for the ball given by the telegraph operators during the strike, for $114, being the amount of a bill for printed programmes, invitations, etc. The case was set for trial on Monday at 3 o'clock p. m.

Another Newspaper Libel Suit.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Last Wednesday The Commercial Gazette published an article in which it was alleged that "Father Crowley, pastor of the Church of the Atonement," had been suspended by the archbishop-elect for immorality. Father Crowley has sued the newspaper in the supreme court for $20,000 damages for libel.

Death of a Veteran.

READING, Pa., Nov. 9.—George W. Durell, captain of the famous Durell battery during the late war, died here from the effects of a paralytic stroke received July 26. He was 62 years of age and was formerly of the printing department of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad.

More Intolerance.

PERIST, Nov. 10.—The mob attacked the Jews at Zalovevo. The police were fired on by the mob and returned the fire, killing two and wounding several others. The mob then fled. Three persons arrested have turned informers.

Will Stand by the Prices.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The United Order of American Carpenters, at a meeting at the Cooper institute, resolved to adhere during the winter months to the resolution adopted last spring of $2.50 for a day's work.

Education in the South.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The Inter-State Commission on Federal Aid and Education in the South, appointed at Louisville in September, perfected a bill to present to congress.

"Children spring up and are cut down like flowers." Brown's Teething Cordial saves the little ones.

Prof. Horsford's Phosphate Baking Powder.

This powder is made from Professor Horsford's acid phosphate, the popular article with physicians for supplying the phosphates required by the system, and contains nothing but what is found in wheat. SHEA

THE ARTISTIC DRAPER AND TAILOR,

JANESVILLE, WIS. RACINE, WIS.

LINCOLN, Ill., Nov. 10.—Information has been given the state's attorney and sheriff which tightens the coils more firmly around Carpenter. At a late hour the affidavit made that they were present with Long, Griffin, and Reed when they were at the pump near Carpenter's office on the Sunday night preceding the tragedy. They are positive that no light was there, and have so stated under the solemnity of an oath. About 5 o'clock p. m. the sheriff and deputies entered the barroom of Koehn's hotel to question him concerning important information which was at the office of the state's attorney to confer with the authorities. It was apprehended that he would object, in which case it had been arranged for arrest and lock him up. Contrary to the expectations of the officers, he willingly complied, and before he returned to his place had unfolded a tale which, had it been introduced in court, would have had a bearing on the case. It was his object that a day or so after the arrest was made, committed, and before the arrest was made, Carpenter entered his place and said: "August, did you see a light in my office on Sunday night?" Koehn told him that he did not know, whereupon Carpenter said very earnestly: "If you did you can help me." At the time this conversation was held three men, Long, Griffin and Reed were in the bar-room, and they for the first time asserted that they had no additional information and significant knowledge given by Koehn was that the three witnesses in question were kept at Koehn's house at the expense of Carpenter's partner, A. E. Eton, who authorized Koehn to let them shift for themselves after the coroner's investigation. This was done, but these men afterward occupied seats in a passenger coach and traveled in first-class style to the point below Springfield, Ill., and will make a determined effort to have this evidence introduced in court, even though the case has closed. It is conceded the state has a much stronger case than they presented in the preliminary hearing. They have been conceding the grave evidence as fast as it accumulated. At 10 o'clock Dr. A. M. Miller, telegraphed from Chicago to Blinn, who is the person who had Zura, Burns' organs to Chicago and carried them to the state's attorney. Stress is laid on this telegram. Cunningham has returned from Paul, who he went to confer with a doctor who is supposed to have known something about the case. He admitted that a girl called on him to have an abortion performed about the time Zura left home, but he could not identify her. He did not come to Carter, who is an admiral of Zura's, and was prevented by missing a train. He indignantly denies the charges of intimacy said to have existed between him and the unfortunate girl.

At the inquest the most important testimony was that with reference to the length of time the girl had been dead when found. Several witnesses contradicted the evidence of the defense tending to show that the murder must have taken place after midnight, which would mean Carpenter's alibi good. They would mean that he had been dead twenty-four hours. The time of Carpenter's arrival at home on the night of the murder was fixed indisputably at about 9 o'clock.

State's Atty. Forrest then began the argument for the people. He reviewed the case carefully, and in thundering tones asked: "Who killed Zura Burns?" Beach, Carpenter's counsel, replied: "That will always be a question." "No, sir," shouted Forrest, "it is not a question in the minds of the public." Here the applause became so great that the voice of the speaker was drowned. Judge Leacy called for order, but it was a difficult task to enforce it. Before completing his speech Mr. Forrest was interrupted by an officer removing the dead girl's father from the room. He was crying and weeping with a look which boded no good. Mr. Forrest was followed by Col. Lynch and Mr. Beach for the defense, each of whom handled the witnesses without gloves. Mr. Beach was unusually severe in his denunciation of the girl. At 3 o'clock court adjourned when Mr. Beach, assistant prosecuting attorney, will close. The feeling prevails that the court will release or admit to jury the body of Zura, the brother of Zura, is back here from St. Elmo, who has his father.

Mr. Leacy Keeps His Word.—The commissioner of Indian affairs has received a dispatch from Gen. Crook, dated the 3d inst., conveying the information that seventy-nine men, women and children of the Chiricahua band, who had been taken into custody in accordance with the terms made with Gen. Crook in May last. The dispatch states that there were 146 men, women and children who remained in Mexico last May. Of these, 79 have been released, and the remainder are among the Chiricahua. His two children are among those that came in. Ten men and two women have gone to San Carlos; forty men, women and children are remaining in Mexico to be in possession of the Indians would have come in because only they went to Casa Grande after some of their tribe, but were surrounded by the Mexicans and then made their escape.

Making Connection.—New York, Nov. 10.—A company has just been organized to build a railroad from Danville, Ill., to Chicago, Ill., a point on the Chicago division of the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific railroad, with the following named gentlemen as incorporators: Jay Gould, T. W. Evans, Russell Sage, Thos. F. Ryan, A. H. Hopkins, New York; John E. Green of Louisville. One-half the number are directors of the Wabash road and one-half the Evansville & Terre Haute directors. The latter road is controlled by the Louisville & Nashville road. The new road when completed will form an air-line between Chicago and the south via the Wabash and Louisville & Nashville roads.

—Last evening Mr. James Mendenhall, one of the jurors in the Iowa county cyclone case, now on trial in the circuit court, received a dispatch announcing the death of his son, whereupon he was excused by the judge, and, by agreement of the parties, the trial proceeded with eleven jurors. At noon to-day the cyclone case was adjourned until 2 o'clock on Monday, and the jury was excused until that hour. This afternoon the court is engaged with other cases on the calendar.

—Now that we can no longer laugh at the absurdities of Lord Dunderbary there is no reason why his American prototype the "dude," should not have a place on the stage. It would be difficult to find a better exponent of the part than Mr. W. J. Ferguson, who has been known for some time as a clever and versatile actor. He assumed the role of Sir Chatterbox Trip at the twenty-third street theatre last Monday night with unmistakable success. During the past week the theatre has been packed and the piece received with shouts of laughter. There is money in "A Friendly Tip," and Mr. Ferguson's clever performance is capable of amusing audiences anywhere.—New York Sunday Courier. Ferguson and his company will appear in Leppin's music hall this evening.

—The old and reliable jewelry firm of Messrs. Webb & Hall are now arranging for their twenty-eighth annual holiday display of fine goods. Their stock of jewelry is simply immense, and a visitor can form no idea of the amount of stock in their store by looking into their crowded show cases. Their cases are not only filled with a large assortment of fine gold and silver watches, chains, finger rings, diamond sets, and silver and plated ware, etc., but their large vault is packed full of the finest goods to be found in the market, making their stock one of the largest to be found in the west, and goods keep arriving every day. This firm is one of the oldest in the state, and their reputation for fair dealing, selling good goods at the lowest prices, and for just what they are represented, is second to none. They will have a regular exhibition in holiday goods, and what cannot be found in their immense stock will hardly be worth looking after. They can sell fine gold and silver watches and rings by the bushel—call at Webb & Hall's, Leppin's corner and inspect the stock.

Mr. O. F. Nowlan.

Mr. O. F. Nowlan, one of the contractors on the capitol extension, arrived home last evening. He is worn out with the excitement caused by the terrible calamity at the capitol building, but being possessed of an extraordinary strong mind and body, he will only require a short rest to regain his former self, and keep right along attending to his business. The following taken from last evening's Madison Journal, Mr. Nowlan says is substantially correct, although he does not recollect of being interviewed by any one connected with that paper, and only explains that the substance of the remarks attributed to him were made in a conversation with one of the state officers.

"I am completely dumfounded by the accident, for I considered every wall of the wing perfectly solid, and it was but yesterday that my partner, Mr. Bentley, was here, and we were congratulating ourselves upon the excellence of the work. I have no idea of the cause of the terrible casualty, for I have hardly had time in which to collect my thoughts; but for the last few moments I have been thinking, and I do have a little theory of my own, which may amount to nothing, and which I do not feel like disclosing now, though when the proper time comes I shall be glad to give it to the public. I have never before had an accident happen to my work, and I have been a builder all my life, and I am free to confess that I am really completely upset by this overwhelming blow. I have given orders to my men time and again to do every piece of work in the very best possible manner, and there is not a man among them who will not testify to this. There was something wrong somewhere; that is sure, or the wall would never have fallen, but as a friend has said to me, the accident was one of those unforeseen occurrences which happen at the most unexpected moments, and without any apparent cause. Why, only this noon I met Hon. E. W. Keyes, one of the capitol commissioners, when he said that it was his 'painful duty to tell me that the capitol extension was the best piece of work of the kind he had ever seen.' And this is exactly what I have been told a hundred times. Architect Jones regarded the work as excellently done, and I thought it the same. As I said before, I am completely dumfounded and hardly know what to do or say. I had set my heart upon going to Janesville this evening and seeing my wife, who is quite ill, but I have heard some remarks casting the responsibility for the accident upon the contractors' shoulders, and I cannot leave with such a shadow hanging over my partner and myself. Mr. Bentley was up from Milwaukee yesterday, and while here, he and I were all over the two wings. The accident might just as well have happened while we were in the south wing, and I have had a very narrow escape from death to-day, for I had come out of the wing but a short time before the crash was heard. You ask what will be my financial loss. I have not thought of that, and if the accident had only happened at noon, when the men were all at dinner, I cannot tell you how rejoiced I should be. The accident probably makes a beggar of me, but that is nothing, for I can always support my wife and myself. Money loss, in a time like this, is not to be considered, for I might just as well have been killed as those other poor men, then what would money avail me?"

"Mr. Nowlan, was the stone or mortar used in the walls of the south wing, good in quality?" asked the reporter.

"Yes sir, it was first-class in every particular—in fact, was excellent. The mortar is of the same quality as that used for all building purposes in Madison."

The building commissioners, with the architect and the contractors, held a consultation, when it was agreed to call Mr. Nash, a prominent architect of Cincinnati, to Madison, to be a prominent contractor from that city with him, for the purpose of making a thorough examination of the work, and render an opinion as to the cause of the disaster. This plan was agreed to by all parties, as the best manner in arriving at an opinion that would be acceptable to the general public.

The loss to the capitol building is variously estimated at from $15,000 to $25,000.

Mr. Nowlan returned to Madison this morning, intending to come home again this evening.

To wind up to-night's fun a grand free hop is to be given at the Guards' armory.

Bicycle Championship.

W. J. Morgan has backed R. B. Clark, of Beloit, to race W. M. Woodside, the Irish champion, three races—1 1/2, 1 mile, for $100—$50 a side. Mr. Woodside has accepted, and has placed $25 deposit money in the hands of the editor of the Beloit Press, and Morgan covered this amount. The races are to take place Tuesday, at three o'clock, on the Beloit fair grounds.

The Weather.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 33 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with north wind. At one o'clock, the register was 51 degrees—above zero. Clear with north wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 51 and 58 degrees above zero.

Little Devils "Anthrax" at Eldredge's.

Dinastrous Runaway.

A team of horses, attached to a heavy wagon, were left in front of Pierson Brothers gun shop at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon by the owner, Mr. H. Rose, of Ft. Atkinson, which became frightened and started down Main street on a break run. The team kept close to the curb stone on the west side of the street, and when in front of Heimstreet's drugstore, they struck the heavy wagon belonging to Mr. Hulet Story, of Mount Zion, overturning the wagon, breaking the reach, and damaging the box. Rose's team next struck a light platform wagon with light top, standing in front of Wheelock's crockery store, and belonging to Mr. Henry Slawson, of Alton. This light wagon was made a complete wreck. The runaway team was stopped at this point, but not until they had broken the pole of the heavy wagon to which they were attached. Mr. Slawson's horse was considerably injured, but how bad could not be ascertained. Although a good many people were on the street at the time, none were hurt. The damages to all of the vehicles which were wrecked by the runaway team will amount to a considerable sum.

The Jumbo Pie Social.

The Good Templars of this city, whose lodge is located in the Court Street M. E. church block, held a pleasant social at their lodge rooms last evening, the first of a series and of the season. The attendance was quite respectable, and the entertainment very good in all respects. Music, vocal and instrumental, readings, dialogues and recitations were finely rendered. Everybody present was pleased. It was an occasion where good feeling and good cheer abounded. At the conclusion of the literary part of the exercises, Rev. Mr. Goldthorp announced that "pie would be served," and less than a dozen charming young ladies, with appropriate helmets and white aprons labeled "Jumbo Pie," served all with the most excellent edible of several varieties at five cents per cut, and a real "pious" time was enjoyed by those who partook. Mr. Henry Sykes acted as stage manager. It is to be hoped that this pleasant occasion may lead to many more of the like, and that substantial additions may be made to the temperance lodge.

The Wheel Race.

The champion bicycle riders did not draw much of a crowd to the fair grounds yesterday afternoon, to witness the contest which was for the championship of the Northwestern states, the contestants being Mr. W. J. Morgan, champion of Canada, and Mr. R. B. Clark, champion of Wisconsin. There were not to exceed one hundred people on the ground. The race and the honors were won by Morgan, he making the first mile in 3:43, and the second in 3:41 1/2. Mr. W. M. Woodside, champion of Ireland, took an outside part in the race to make it a little more interesting, and easily led both the regular contestants.

In the evening there was considerable amusement in the Guards' armory, and quite a crowd of ladies and gentlemen assembled to witness the sport created by the fancy riders. Morgan won the five mile race in twenty-one minutes. The single mile foot race had three entries—Thomas Riley, Warren Barlow and Chas. Sigals, of this city, and the race was won by Riley—the prize being a silver cup.

Mr. F. S. Rollinson gave a good exhibition in trick riding, introducing his celebrated "dude" act, which greatly pleased the audience. Eddie Chase, of this city, also gave a very creditable exhibition in trick riding, for an amateur.

The exhibition will be repeated at the armory this evening, according to the programme announced in our advertising columns.

See the foot race at Guards' armory to-night.

Lightning's Frolic.

Lightning struck the residence of N. B. Gaston about half-past eleven o'clock last night. The inmates were aroused by a terrific crash which seemed to nearly throw them all out of their beds, and a moment later Miss Bessie called to her father that there was a ball of fire on the roof of a shed adjoining the house. Mr. Gaston hastened to investigate, and in throwing open a door leading to one of the parlors he found a Pampas Plume in one corner of the room ablaze. He quickly smothered the fire and sought the roof, but found no more fire. An examination of the premises showed that the electric fluid had passed through the shed and into the house, making two holes about the size of a rifle ball, and had traversed several portions of the house. In the parlor an oil painting had been suspended was burned off, and some of the furniture was discolored and slightly damaged, while the walls of lightning were disfigured. Traces of lightning were found in Miss Bessie's stove zinc. Some traces of the fire were burning in the room, and one remarkable thing was that none of the 300 feet of telephone wire, which was between the house and the pole on B street, can be found, and must have been burned.—Beloit Free Press, of Friday.

Bridge's Operatic Minstrels.

Next Tuesday evening the famous Briggs' Boston operatic minstrels will appear at Leppin's Music hall. They were here a year ago and at that time gave a superior entertainment, all will remember who were fortunate enough to see it. From the following, taken from the (Ohio) Daily Herald, of September 25, it appears they are no less attractive this season:

The above combination were new to our theater goers, as they have never played in this city before, but they won a reputation last evening that will ensure them a good reception should they be pleased to make us a second visit. The principal comedians, Billy Armstrong, Harry Davis, Matt and Sweeney, kept the audience's minds about the funniest act we ever saw. Sweeney and McLean's musical act was wonderful, while Ellsworth Cook in his female impersonation was very fine. Master Kissell is an attractive card with his lightning Zonare drill, and the harmonic quartette with their well trained voices was one of the features of the evening.

BAKING POWDER IN BOTTLES.—The largest concern of its kind in the world (the famous Ralston chemical works of Providence, R. I., manufacturers of Horsford's baking powder, etc.) announce that after an experience of over twenty-five years in putting up baking powders in tin and glass, they are satisfied that a properly made glass bottle has several advantages over the tin can for that purpose, and they have, therefore, at considerable extra expense, adopted the former for the Horsford.

The bottles have a wide mouth to admit a teaspoon, and when emptied will be found very convenient for many household uses.

The glass bottle is much cleaner than the tin can, and will preserve the strength of the powder much better. All baking powders gradually lose strength when exposed to the air, and this fact explains the variation in the strength of the same brand of powder in different cans, with which all housekeepers are familiar.

Tobacco Review.

The business of the market of late seems to indicate that the boom in '83 Wisconsin leaf has about collapsed. The buyers who rode in such hot haste over the country a few weeks ago have pulled off the road, and quittance seems to reign supreme. Local buyers are still taking contracts whenever they can do so on reasonable terms, but the tendency is towards a weaker market. We cease to hear of 20 cent sales now as frequent as before, in fact, late sales have been considerably under these figures. One reason, at least, for a decline in the market is that the unfrosted leaf has been comparatively about all purchased. Then, again, prices were getting beyond a profitable treatment for the dealers, and they have declined to pull out of the market, until a decline brings them within reach again.

We have had no hard freezes yet, the weather being favorable to satisfactory curing.

The following are sample sales that have reached us: Town of Janesville, Adam Schooner, Spanish, 14 cents, in bundle; Lawrence Schooner, Spanish, 15 cents, in bundle; John Pletcher, Jr., 15 cents, 17 cents, three grades; H. Chas. Spanish, 15 1/2 cents, three grades; Jule Barker, Spanish, 15 cents, in bundle; Charles Douse, Spanish, 10 1/2 cents, three grades.

Town of Albion—Frank Ayers, 6 1/2 acres Spanish, 18 1/2 cents, 5 grades; George Walters, 2 acres, Spanish, 18 cents; four grades; John Son, three acres Spanish, 19 cents; assorted.—Tobacco Reporter.

1882 Tobacco Trade.

It is a gratifying pleasure to sit quietly and reflect over the results of the past five months' business in every branch of the tobacco trade; especially when we look around and see how sparsely successful other branches of the mercantile interest have been this year so far. We know positively that from the first of May up to the present time, leaf tobacco and manufactured goods have been constantly advancing, especially the raw material in the face of an extraordinary boom, seldom occurring so soon in the early part of the year, and when the market is so full of dealers who have been rolled up to their credit by the tobacco trade, yet the raw material has been so uncommonly fine, and manufacturers see a handsome margin for them, while they are enabled from the splendid texture of the leaf to turn out manufactured stock which is pleasing to the eye and unusually satisfactory to the taste of the public smoker. Therefore, we cannot but acknowledge for the past trade their true thankfulness for the past and present encouraging circumstances and positive evidence the flattering year 1883, has produced to the tobacco fraternity.—Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter.
